

Plagiarism:

- Plagiarism is a serious violation of the Student Honor Code. You commit plagiarism when you present the ideas or words of someone else as your own. You can commit plagiary unintentionally. Remember, you are responsible for understanding the University's definitions of plagiarism and academic dishonesty, which include the following:
  - Submitting all or part of someone else's work as if it were your own
  - "Borrowing," without crediting the source, any of the following:
    - Any part of song lyrics, poetry, or movie scripts
    - Any part of another person's essay, speech, or ideas
    - Any part of an article in a magazine, journal, newspaper
    - Any part of a book, encyclopedia, CD-ROM, online WWW page, etc.
    - Any idea from another person or writer, even if you express that idea in your own words
  - "Borrowing," verbatim, text without enclosing it in quotation marks and citing the source
  - Making "duplicate submissions" of assignments—that is, submitting work in one class that you also submit in another class
  - "Collaborating" or receiving uncredited, substantive help in writing your assignment. (However, you may receive general advice from tutors, writing lab instructors, or OWL staff without the need to give credit.)
  - Failing to cite sources, or citing them improperly
